Office Action Summary

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-12 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rose et al (US 5,757,917).

As per claim 1,

A method for facilitating electronic refunds in an online commercial transaction, the method comprising the steps of:

A) establishing communication over a network between a payment computer and a buyer computer; / abstract; fig 1(115), 12, 14, 20; col 1, lines 65-67 to col 2, line 6; col 4, lines 46-52

B) creating at the payment computer a vault having buyer funds therein and a refund account for a buyer; / col 3, lines 38-43; col 5, lines 25-30; col 6, lines 19-21, 33-37.

The reference fails to teach the feature a segregated refund account. F

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of a decentralized account structure for faster access for entering the transaction, a segregated audit trail and faster feedback to access individual accounts.

C) receiving at the payment computer a plurality of requests from the buyer computer to purchase items, each of the plurality of requests being associated with a corresponding one of the items; / fig 1(10); col 5, lines 60-64. The reference fails to teach the feature of multiple requests.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of increased revenue.

D) accepting the plurality of requests to purchase items and debiting the vault to account for costs related to all of the items; / col 6, lines 19-21, lines 33-38. The reference fails to teach the feature of debiting.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of maintaining proper accounting for subsequent audits.

E) receiving at the payment computer from the buyer computer a buyer selected request to refund the cost of at least one of the corresponding ones of the items; and / col 6, lines 19-20. The reference fails to teach the feature of refunds.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of meeting a standard commercial practice to sustain customer satisfaction.

F) upon receipt of the request to refund, the payment computer accounting for the cost of the at least one of the corresponding ones of the items in the refund account and credits the vault with the cost of the at least one of the corresponding ones of the items thereby effectuating a refund to the buyer. / col 6, lines 19-20. The reference fails to teach the feature of crediting accounts.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of maintaining proper accounting for subsequent audits.

As per claim 2,

A method as recited in claim 1, further comprising the steps of processing additional buyer selected requests to refund the costs of other ones of the corresponding ones of the items and accounting for the costs of the other ones of the corresponding ones of the items in the refund account; and / col 6, lines 19-20. The reference fails to teach the feature of multiple requests.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of segregating a decentralized account structure for faster access for entering the transaction, a segregated audit trail and faster feedback to access individual accounts.

-at times when a total cost of all requests to refund that are accounted for in the refund account exceed a threshold value, rendering the vault inactive. / col 6, lines 19-20.

The reference fails to teach the feature of threshold value.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of preventing losses.

As per claim 3,

A method as recited in claim 2, further comprising ensuring that the buyer is compensated for buyer funds remaining in the vault at the time the vault is rendered inactive. / col 6, lines 19-20. The reference fails to teach the feature compensation for buyer funds upon an inactive account.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of maintaining proper accounting records for inactive accounts.

As per claim 4,

A method as recited in claim 3, further comprising keeping a transaction log of all of the buyer purchases and requests to refund. / col 6, lines 19-20. The reference fails to teach the feature of a refund transaction log.

As per claim 5,

A method as recited in claim 4, further comprising the step of checking the transaction log to determine if the at least one of the corresponding ones of the items was previously purchased by the buyer and at times when the at least one of the corresponding ones of the items was not previously purchased by the buyer inhibiting step F) from occurring. / col 6, lines 19-20.

The reference fails to teach the feature log checking for previous and non-previous purchases.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of preventing losses.

As per claim 6,

A method as recited in claim 5, further comprising checking the transaction log to determine if the buyer selected request to refund the cost of the at least one of the corresponding ones of the items was previously made and at times when the buyer selected request to refund the cost of the at least one of the corresponding ones of the items was previously made inhibiting step F) from occurring. / col 6, lines 19-20.

The reference fails to teach the feature of log checking for purchases.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of preventing losses.

As per claim 7,

A method as recited in claim 6, further comprising keeping at the payment computer a count of the number of additional requests to refund the costs of other ones of the corresponding ones of the items and inhibiting step F) from occurring if the number exceeds a threshold number. / col 6, lines 19-20.

The reference fails to teach the feature of additional refund requests.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of preventing losses.

As per claim 8,

A method as recited in claim 7, further comprising at times when all costs accounted for in the refund account do not exceed the threshold value over a predetermined period of time, resetting the refund account to an initial value. / col 6, lines 19-20.

The reference fails to teach the feature of resetting to initial value.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of maintaining a proper "set of books" for accounting purposes.

As per claim 9,

A method as recited in claim 1, further comprising keeping a transaction log of all of the buyer purchases and requests to refund. / col 6, lines 19-20.

The reference fails to teach the feature of a transaction log for purchases and refunds.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of maintaining a proper "set of books" for accounting purposes.

As per claim 10,

A method as recited in claim 9, further comprising the step of checking the transaction log to determine if the at least one of the corresponding ones of the items was previously purchased by the buyer and at times when the at least one of the corresponding ones of the items was not previously purchased by the buyer inhibiting step F) from occurring. / col 6, lines 19-20.

The reference fails to teach the feature of a transaction log for the aforementioned purchases.

Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of preventing losses.

As per claim 11,

A method as recited in claim 10, further comprising checking the transaction log to determine if the buyer selected request to refund the cost of the at least one of the corresponding ones of the items was previously made and at times when the buyer selected request to refund the cost of the at least one of the corresponding ones of the items was previously made inhibiting step F) from occurring. / col 6, lines 19-20.

The reference fails to teach the feature of refund requests.

Art Unit: 2164

As per claim 12,

A broker computer having a computer-readable medium including computer-executable instructions for performing the steps in the computer-implemented method of claim 1. / abstract; fig 1(115), 12, 14, 20. col 6, lines 19-20.

The reference fails to teach the feature of a broker computer. Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known in the e-commerce art and / or retail art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to implement this feature for the advantage of a decentralized network system as in the seller's agent (fig 1(115), col 6, lines 35-36) for faster feedback in accessing accounts.
